

If You or Your Child Were Under the Age of 13 and Watched Content for Children on YouTube, You Could Get Money from a $30 Million Settlement.

There is a Settlement in a class action lawsuit that claims Google LLC and YouTube LLC (“Google”) violated the law when it allegedly tracked and collected personal data about children under the age of 13 without parental consent. Google denies that it did anything wrong.

Who is included in the Settlement?

Generally, you (or your child) are included in the Settlement if you (or they) are people in the United States who, at any time from July 1, 2013 to April 1, 2020, were under 13 years old, and watched content allegedly directed to children on YouTube. You may be able to get money from this Settlement.

What does the Settlement provide?

Google will pay $30 million to settle this lawsuit. This amount will be used to pay attorneys’ fees, costs, and expenses; notice and administration costs; taxes; service awards to the Settlement Class Representative guardians; and money to eligible Settlement Class Members.

How can I get a payment?

You must submit a claim form online or by mail by January 21, 2026. If your claim is valid, you will get a proportional (or pro rata) payment from the Settlement Fund. Your payment amount will depend on the number of valid claim submissions.

What are my Rights?

Even if you do nothing, you will be bound by the Court’s decisions. If you want to keep your right to sue Google yourself, you must exclude yourself from the Settlement by December 8, 2025. If you stay in the Settlement, you may object to it by December 8, 2025. Detailed information about how to exclude yourself or object is available on the website, www.YouTubePrivacySettlement.com.

The Court will hold a Final Hearing on January 13, 2026, to consider if it will approve the Settlement and a request for attorneys’ fees up to 30% of the Settlement Fund, plus reimbursement of expenses in an amount up to $250,000, and service awards up to $1,500 for each Settlement Class Representative guardian. You or your own lawyer may appear and speak at the hearing at your own expense, although you are not required to do so.
